NEW TALKING MACHINE RECORDS

The Thannhauser Overture, Parts 1 and 2, from Wagner's "Thannhauser," has just been put in record form by Columbia.

The intricacies of this Wagnerian composition have never been interpreted with more masterful skill than by Prince's Symphonies Orchestra. No more vivid musical picture could be painted than the introduction to Part I, the impressive Pilgrim's Chorus. It would seem that the very instruments themselves reflect the spiritual power that inspired Thannhauser on his journey of penance to Rome.

The very zenith of musical descriptive art is reached in Part 2. The introductory theme vividly portrays the return of the pilgrims, chanting as they march. Then the sombre religious motif is lost in tempestuous musical battle fought between the ecstatic Pilgrim's Chorus and the passionate Venusberg motif. The religious theme prevails and all instruments blend their voices in the triumphant hymn that marks the finale of the Overture.

Such an inspiring performance by a symphony orchestra is a revelation even to the most sophisticated musical ear.

"Keep a Place Down in Your Heart for Ireland," a late Columbia recording, is an interesting study of American patriotism and Irish loyalty. The advice of an Americanized Irishman to his Irish-American son.

The melody is typically Irish, but quite different in tempo from the usual popular Irish songs. De Los Becker has a wee bit o' brogue in his splendid tenor voice that is admirably adapted to the song.

Here is a brimming measure of good cheer for the record lover.

"Manna Kea Medley" is another charming Hawaiian guitar duet played by Helen Louisa and Frank Ferrara, and recorded by Columbia.

It will interest admirers of Southern Pacific melody to know that the Hawaiian guitar is really the ordinary American instrument. Instead of being held upright by the left hand, the guitar is laid flat across the knees. Metal, thumb-like picks are worn on the fingers of the right hand to evoke melody from the strings while the left hand fingers the frets by pressing down the strings with a metal bar three inches long and approximately one quarter of an inch thick. The bar is slid up and down the strings which produces the singing effect so characteristic of Hawaiian music.

"Manna Kea Medley" is a combination of beautiful harmonies quite different from those Hawaiian melodies we have enjoyed listening to in the past.

Nature's most beautiful gift to man is the human voice. The human voice is the most beautiful of all instruments.

ants, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, on Fairmont avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Eddy, pastor of the First Baptist church. Mr. Brown is a motorman on the Monongahela Valley Traction company's lines. Both are popular young people. They will reside in this city.

Corn Roast.

Misses Louise and Thelma Fleming were hostesses at a corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips at Maple Farms on Saturday. The party made the trip on hay wagons and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Shaffer-Morris.

The marriage of Mr. Guy C. Shaffer, of Gladesville, W. Va., and Miss Kathryn Morris was solemnized on Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David F. Morris, at Hagans, W. Va. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jarrett, of Morgantown, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

The Morris home was beautiful in its decorations of flowers and ferns a color scheme of pink and white being effectively carried out in the embellishments.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a robe of silk crepe de chene with veil and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses. She was attended by the Misses Mary Shaffer, Linnie Berry and Luella Morris, each being tastefully gowned in pink crepe de chene and carrying pink roses. Jesse E. Gray was best man.

The bridal party descended the stairway to the strains of the Lohengrin bridal chorus which was played by Miss Genevieve Corday. When the bride threw her bouquet it was caught by Miss Luella Morris.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and the aides were Misses Linnie Berry, Luella Morris and Ora Griffin. When the bride's cake was cut the ring went to Miss Jeanette Michael, the thimble to Miss Luella Morris and the money to Miss Linnie Berry.

The bride's going away costume was of blue cloth with accessories to match. They left by automobile for Morgantown where they will reside. The bride is a graduate of the Fairmont State Normal School and had taught for the past three years in Morgantown. Mr. Shaffer is a prominent young farmer of Gladesville.

Here's a boy's composition on ships: "Ships are useful for going to foreign countries to teach savages how to dress. If there were no ships people would not go to the museum to see models. Sailors are very busy men and are always chewing tobacco to prevent seasickness. Poets get a living with writing about ships."

Pleasantness Demanded.

There is no place in the modern scheme for the man who cannot be pleasant. He is a back number whether he is in the office or the factory, the private business or the city hall.

voice, he has the ability to portray emotion so graphically to the listener that the enjoyment of listening is not lost in the endeavor to understand the composer's thought.

Columbia's recording of "Flow Thou Regal Purple Stream," sung by Graveure, is a splendid example of Graveure's facility of expression and the phenomenal beauty of his voice.

The deep sentiment of the words and the sheer sweetness of the melody are soul-stirring, especially in verse:

"When I'm dead and laid away
Let my loyal subjects say
A month he reigned—
But that was May!"

"By the Sad Luana Shore" is not so sad as its title suggests; otherwise it would not be one of the season's most successful musical comedies: "Step This Way," featuring that master of comedy, Lew Fields.

The song is a story of Hawaiian love supplemented by a dreamy typical South Sea melody, set to most enticing waltz time.

Albert Campbell and Henry Burr, tenors, accompanied by orchestra, made a splendid recording of "By the Sad Luana Shore" for Columbia.

Isadora Duncan and other modern exponents of esthetic dancing teach their pupils that those steps and movements which are most natural to the human body are also the most beautiful.

No dance, ancient or modern, is more eloquently natural than the good old-fashioned waltz and no dance is more universally beloved.

means all that its title says. It is one "The Waltz We Love," just issued by Columbia, played by Prince's Band means all that its title says. It is one of those alluringly sweet melodies whose beauty of rhythm carries the listener along with it, utterly unconscious of effort.

Heat Spots.

The white spots caused by hot dishes can be removed by rubbing fresh lard on them. The lard should be rubbed in with the fingers. If the spots are very bad it will be necessary to leave the lard on a few hours. It is then rubbed off with a soft cloth. The lard will not injure the finish of the table. A finely polished dining table, otherwise ruined by hot dishes, can be thus reclaimed.

Only Interest Worth Anxiety.
Education is the only interest worthy the deep controlling anxiety of the thoughtful man.

His Gentle Hint.

Friend—I suppose if people would do just what you tell them you would have a great deal less trouble.
Doctor—Yes, indeed! I would tell some of them to settle their accounts.

The women and children called the most beautiful in European royalty are in the family of King Ferdinand of Rumania, whose country has just plunged into the world war on the side of the allies.

The children are Princess Illeana and Prince Mircea, two of the six children of the king, and the woman is their mother, Queen Maria Alexandra Victoria. She is a granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England.

When Would He Pray?

When Louise, aged five, first heard a train call at the Union station, Columbus, announce an outgoing train, and the stations at which it would stop, she asked her mother: "Mother, when will that man pray again?"

Cough Syrup.

To make cough syrup take a tablespoonful of molasses and stir it thick with ground ginger. Make only a small amount at a time, and it will always be fresh. Take a tablespoonful, or as much as is needed.

Living in Hopes.

"My father is 'most a millionaire,' said small Jesse. "What is that?" asked the little daughter of the laundress, who was helping her make pies. "Well, I don't 'zactly know," said Jesse, "but when mamma bought a new carpet for the library papa said, 'What did you do that for? I ain't quite a millionaire.'"

True to a Principle.

"I never borrow an umbrella," "It's a good rule." "I make it an absolute rule to buy my umbrellas. By the way, would you mind lending me the price of one?"—Washington Star.

QUEEN OF RUMANIA AND CHILDREN.

A woman left her little boy of four years with a neighbor while she went shopping. He persisted in remaining out on the front steps despite all efforts to entertain him. He asked him why he would rather stay there and he said, "I want to see if my mamma is ever tuning to turn."

Test of a Good Book.

That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit. It is a wise book that is good from title page to the end. One masterpiece, fairly mastered, prepares the reader to master the great pieces of literature. The encyclopedia of details may be left for less occupied and thoughtful moments.—Amos Bronson Alcott.

HAMILTON REUNION.

The Hamilton reunion yesterday was attended by about three hundred descendants of the Hamilton family and their friends, and was held in the Baptist church at Fairview. The musical part of the program pleased every one and was given by a quartette of boys from Fairmont. The addresses that were made by Hon. T. W. Fleming and W. S. Hamilton were greatly appreciated by the older folks, but the thing that was enjoyed by all, especially by the children, was the picnic dinner that was spread upon the ground.

At a business meeting that was held after the program the following officers were elected for next year: President, J. Y. Hamilton; secretary, W. A. Crowl; treasurer, W. S. Hamilton. The place selected for the 1917 gathering is Dr. Hamilton's bungalow at Stony Point. The next reunion will be held the first week in September, 1917.
